RESPIRATORY UPDATE 2025; Practical Tips for Clinical Decision Making in Resource Limited Settings

Selangor (October 2025) – A successful webinar course was held over Zoom Platform on 11th October 2025 & 25th October 2025. Respiratory Update 2025 was an online webinar course that provides practical tips for clinical decision making in a resource limited setting. This idea was brought up as medical officers and allied health professionals in facilities where resources are limited often face challenges of making critical clinical decisions. This event was tailored to offer insights from experienced consultants in Pulmonology, Emergency Care, Haematology, Radiology and Acute Internal Medicine.

This course was organized by Respiratory Unit, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak together with UNIMAS Business School & PROCEL. The event was held fully online on two separate Saturdays which had 416 registered participants which comprises of Physicians, Medical Officers & Allied Health Professionals. It was a successful event which features reputable speakers who are experts in their respective fields.

It is hoped that there will be another series of Respiratory Update that will benefit everyone from all aspects of healthcare facilities.
